Tentative Plan For Rushing Approved By Fraternities

By Richard Woodworth

A tentative second semester rushing plan has been accepted by Middlebury fraternities, it was announced by the Inter-Fraternity Council earlier this week. The plan will definitely be used next year on a trial basis.

Rules for the program are as follows:

Beginning of first semester: I.F.C. will orient the freshmen as to the rushing program.

First Monday following Thanksgiving vacation: five days of compulsory smokers, two houses visited each night, with forty-five minutes at each house.

First Monday following Christmas vacation: five days of compulsory smokers as before.

Second semester:

First Monday: I. F. C. will reorient the freshmen, missed smokers will be made up this night.

Tuesday through Friday and the following Monday: open rushing from 1 to 9 p.m., open smokers from 7 to 9 p.m., no freshmen in houses at other times.

Final stages: freshmen must have preferential lists in by 9:30 p.m. Monday; bids will be returned to freshmen before Carnival.

Commitments may be offered at any time following the first Monday of second semester.

A liberal "dirty rushing" plan was also accepted by the fraternities. Its rules involve the prohibition of slander of fraternities or fraternity men at any time and disallow entertainment of freshmen by fraternities at any time or place. There is to be no entering of fraternity houses by freshmen except on specifically approved business.

According to interpretation by the I. F. C., the plan leaves the way clear to any discussions concerning fraternities by fraternity men and freshmen during the first semester, except for slander. The new system is intended to have simple rules in order that the freshmen will have a better chance to be oriented to the fraternity system in general and in particular to the house of their choice.

The new rushing plan was produced as a result of dissatisfaction with the previous first semester rushing programs. Its intention is to de-emphasize fraternities at the beginning of the year, thereby helping freshmen adjust to college life.

Discontent had been expressed by both freshmen and fraternity men as to the amount of time the pre-

Roarin' Twenties Weekend To Arrive Here Thursday

By Gerry Raymond

Bringing back the Roaring Twenties, this year's Junior Weekend will start off for a four-day fling beginning on Thursday, April 26, and come to a close on Sunday, April 29, it was announced this week by Hugh Marlowe '57 and Nancy Brown '57, co-chairmen of the weekend.

Thursday afternoon starts off the festivities with a baseball game at 3:30 in the afternoon between Middlebury and Williams. From there, the starved spectators move on to the Field House for a fried chicken banquet beginning at 5:30. During this event, the candidates for Queen of Junior Weekend will be presented and balloting will take place. This is a new procedure for choosing the queen. Formerly, instead of being student-elected, the queen was selected by a committee of faculty members. Voting will take place only at the banquet. Directly after the dinner, the Dukes of Dixie will take over to treat the crowd to a jazz concert covering the history of jazz from the days of Jelly Roll Morton to the 30's, when today's big bands gained their fame.

Ken Squier, a native Vermonter broadcasting the jazz show "The Cave of the Winds" over New England's radio networks, will act as master of ceremonies for the concert, which divides the music into three sessions-New Orleans, Chicago, and New York. Cornetist Bill Andrews leads the Dukes, which also include trombonist Squeaky Squires '54, Bill Cadbury as pianist, clarinetist Stan Montero, and Dave Markell as drummer.

Admission to the banquet and jazz concert will be $1.75 per person. Admission for one event only will be $1.00 per person. Bermuda shorts are the suggested dress for the evening. A performance of the spring musical "Jumpin' Juniper!" will also be given at 8:30 for those who cannot attend Saturday night.

Events Friday

Friday's events will begin with the Middlebury-Union baseball game at 3:30 p.m. The big event of the day will occur at 9:00 p.m. with the Junior Varsity Drag, a formal dance featuring the music of Billy Butterfield, trumpeter of "Moonlight in Vermont" fame. Here the presentation of the weekend queen will be made. In addition, Middlebury's own Dissipated Eight will sing for their first large-scale performance on home grounds this spring. Admission is $3.50 per couple, and cocktail or formal dress is the word for the evening.

Athletics will be on tap on Saturday, beginning at 10:00 a.m, with the preliminaries of the Quadrangular Track Meet in which Middlebury, Colby, Bates, and UVM will be fighting it out for top honors. The track finals will take place at 1:30 p.m., and at 2:00 p.m. begins the tennis match between Middlebury and the U. S. Coast Guard Academy. Later on at 4:00 p.m., Middlebury meets Hamilton in a lacrosse game. Highlighting the day will be the Midd-Time Varieties presentation of the musical "Jumpin' Juniper!", presented in the high school au-

Drama Reading To Salute Bard

James Roose-Evans will present a dramatic reading of the great moments of Shakespeare on Monday, April 23. The dramatization, which celebrates the traditional birthday of the bard, is sponsored by the English and drama departments.

Roose-Evans, a Welshman, directed at Maddermarket Theater in Norwich, England for the 1954-55 season and is currently teaching drama at the Juilliard School of Music. He has also directed at Oxford University.

The presentation will be held at 8:15 in Mead Chapel. Admission is free.

Kappa Delta Becomes Local As Forty-Eight Turn In Pins

Maxim Schur

Pianist To Solo With Symphony

Maxim Schur, Latvian-American concert pianist, will be guest soloist with the Vermont State Symphony Orchestra at its annual concert under the auspices of the Concert-Lecture series, to be given Sunday evening at 8:15 in the Memorial Field House.

The orchestra, in its 21st appearance under the program, will be conducted by its director and founder, Dr. Alan Carter, associate professor of music. The concert will mark the first performance of "Short Overture for Strings" by Jean Berger, assistant professor of music.

Schur, who has appeared extensively in Europe and the United States, and who is the co-founder of the Weston, Vt. Summer Concert Series, is a summer resident of Vermont. He will present the Shostakovich Piano Concerto.

The orchestra will offer, in addition to the "Short Overture for Strings," the Overture to "The Magic Flute" by Mozart, in commemoration of the 200th anniversary of the composer's birth, and will conclude with the Eighth Symphony by Beethoven.

Students will be admitted upon presentation of their ID cards.

Assembly Elects Judicial Council

Hugh Marlowe '57, Rosario Rausa '57, Charles Sykes '57, Russell Christensen '58 and Richard Maider '58 were recently elected to the men's Judicial Council, according to Derek Evans '57, president of the Men's Assembly. John Hall '57 and James Wagner '57 are automatically on the new council because of their service this year.

Christensen and Maider will act as prosecutor and recording secretary. They will have no vote until their automatic re-appointment to the council for the academic year 1957-58.

The main function of the Judicial Council, an independent division of the Men's Assembly, is to make recommendations to the Dean's Office for action on student violation of college rules.

Elections for the position of chief justice will take place this week and the results published in the next issue of the CAMPUS.

Large Number Of Group Resigns, Plans To Form Theta Chi Omega

"Forty-eight women have resigned individually from Kappa Delta national sorority because of differences in basic principles. The women plan to reorganize into a local sorority under the name of Theta Chi Omega." This statement was released this week by Carol Van Duyn '57, former president of Kappa Delta.

The resignation of this large a percentage of the group caused the national chapter to become inactive, effective Monday, April 16. The decisions, although discussed as a group, were made individually, each girl submitting both her pin and a written letter of resignation.

Two women retained membership in Kappa Delta. Intensive discussion within the group preceded the decisions to leave. Resignations were completed by Sunday night, April 15.

Theta Chi Omega will aim eventually at re-affiliation with another national organization, but this step cannot be taken for two years, or until all initiated members of Kappa Delta have graduated. The ten members of the class of 1959 who have been pledged but not initiated can be affiliated with another national group because they are not considered members of Kappa Delta.

Specific reasons for the resignations relate in part to Kappa Delta ritual which cannot be made known.

In the class of 1957: Tania Bayard, Nancy Brown, Jane Cameron, Joyce Contente, Barbara Davey, Stephanie Eberth, Margaret Edwards, Elizabeth Hauck, Judith Holmes, Carol Jardine Emptage, Judith Lawton, Sarah Lentz, Carol Nichols, Elizabeth O'Donnell, Carol Van Duyn, Maxine Vought.

From the class of 1958: Ann Andruss, Calista Bowen, Elaine Brezezenski, Claire Deerhake, Nancy Dwyer, Carol Klinger, Mary Loomis, Monica Meyers, Gay Nelson, Laura Reid, Sandra Sorenson, and Carol Waldorf.

From the class of 1959: Louise Allen, Deborah Bruce, Kathleen Bush, Nancy Frame, Gayla Harper, Rebecca Link, Erika Mimno, Susan Miner, Janet Moreau, Carol Schraft, and Sally Williams.

"Campus" Names 1956-57 Officers Of Business Staff

Robert Lewandowski '57 will serve as business manager of the CAMPUS for the coming year, it was announced this week by Robert Peatfield '56, retiring business manager. Betty Jane Davis '57 will be the assistant business manager. The advertising staff will be headed by William Koster '58, as national advertising manager, and Frances Hall '57 as local advertising manager. The positions were awarded upon the basis of a qualifications test consisting of actual problems faced by this year's business staff.

An American history major, Lewandowski has been on the business staff for three years. He was the treasurer of the 1955 Religion Conference and belongs to the Newman Club and the Guards. He is a member of Alpha Sigma Psi and was the editor of his high school newspaper.

Miss Davis is a sociology major and the new treasurer of Women's Forum. This year she is a junior counselor and the treasurer of Delta Delta Delta. She has been on the CAMPUS business staff for two years, and was editor of her high school paper.

Koster is a major in business economics and a member of Phi Sigma. Although this is his first

Dance Slated For Dunmore

By Yvonne Cosby

Another big splash in the spring social pond is coming up this weekend, in the form of the Cove Rush, an informal dance being held at Cove Point this Saturday night from 8 p.m. until midnight.

According to Joanne Legler '58, co-chairman of the affair, dress will be casual. Dance music will be supplied by the Men of Note, while Phinney's Favorite Five, from Williams, will provide entertainment for jazz enthusiasts.

A buffet supper will be served at 10 p.m. Tables around the dance floor will allow dancers to relax and socialize, and, weather permitting, the open-air terrace, overlooking the lake, will also be in use.

An innovation will be a pre-dance instead of a post-dance clean-up party on Saturday afternoon, at which everyone is welcome. A suggestion was made that frisbie plates might be in order.

Tickets are being sold in the Student Union between 10 and 10:30 every morning this week. Buying them ahead of time is an advantage, it was pointed out, as the price is $2.50 at the door, but only $2.25 in advance. Either price, may we comment, seems a good bargain for four hours of music by two bands, with a buffet supper in addition.

Miss Legler said, "The dance sounds like it's going to be a great success, and I hope everyone will come out and enjoy it." She and Robert MacGowan '58 are co-chairmen of the dance. Frederic Ward '58 and Jean Lindblow '58 are handling publicity, William Kelley '58 and Grace Warder '58 are in charge of chaperones, and John Olmstead '58 and Margaret McCoy '58 are taking care of refreshments. Also, Anthony Robinson '58 and Penelope Groll '58 are ticket co-chairmen, Michael McDonough '58 and Elaine Humme '58 are in charge of entertainment, and Richard Johnson '58 and Dorothy Bigelow '58 are handling the finances.

Concessions

Students who are interested in making application for concessions for the academic year 1956-57, should turn in applications by May 7.

Blanks may be obtained from Charles Palmer '57, SPE, or Jules Auger '58, DKE.

Invalid Regulation

Although students are generally inclined to be hypercritical of college administrations and administrators, the fact remains that criticism, however unconstructive and halfhearted it may be, is usually founded in fact. The fact is that the atmosphere for living and for learning at Middlebury College is most definitely lacking in the essentials which motivate the student to learn eagerly and to take pride in the institution.

Much of this lack is brought about by the general ignorance of the student in regard to the bases and purposes of administrational policy, and the problem is certainly not ameliorated by unreasoning criticism, either of the allegedly shortsighted policies of the College administration, or of the "apathy" of the student body. Although blame for such a situation cannot be fixed wholly upon the students or upon the administration, one must admit that the administration has failed to a great extent to foster healthy student-administration relations. Case in point: compulsory chapel attendance, against which well-founded criticisms have been brought many times. Unfortunately, it seems necessary that they be delivered again.

Compulsory chapel has no basis in reason. Any purpose it may serve, it is obvious, has never been satisfactorily explained to the student body, since compulsory attendance continues to be the scapegoat upon which is heaped the majority of the ill-feeling between students and administration. Students point to compulsory chapel as the epitome of administrative absurdity, and the resentment thus created is a prime factor in bad student-administration relations, which in subsequent years become bad college-alumni relations.

Compulsory chapel services have in recent years fallen so far from students' favor that they now serve the single purpose of prejudicing the attitude of the student body toward the entire administration.

No doubt there exist those whose religious needs are filled by chapel services. Assuming that this relative few would attend non-compulsory services, there is left no valid reason for continuing a policy of compulsory attendance at chapel. Moreover, compelling members of the Catholic and Jewish faiths to attend the daily Protestant rites, which provide little religious experience of value at the present time, simply compounds the bitterness felt toward the compulsory program.

The argument that compulsory chapel attendance is necessary to the support of a college chaplain is illogical. If anything, attendance of observers uninterested to the point of distraction would greatly discourage any clergyman. Further, it is impossible to imagine the correctness of forced religious participation as an administrational policy. The realization of this fact on the part of the students contributes greatly to the general ineffectiveness of the services conducted.

The establishment of chapel services on a completely non-compulsory basis would permit free and wholehearted participation, and amend an irrational policy which has done much to direct student resentment against the administration.

The 48

The 48 women of Kappa Delta have made the right choice. After many months of careful thought, they have decided that it is better to bear a certain amount of censure from their national organization, and perhaps others, than to live under the veil of hypocrisy. They have decided to withdraw from their national group rather than support an unacceptable set of principles. They have included in their consideration the other Greek organizations and the College, which may meet criticism as a result of their action.

The secret ritual of the organization automatically creates some haze around the mass resignation. Any group which conceals unfair practices in its ceremony does not deserve the loyalty, not to mention the time and money, of college women. We can only assume that such practices are the basis of the action of the 48, and we respect their decision.

For the pledges of the group and other freshmen who went through rushing just a month ago, this change may be especially bewildering. They may wonder how a group which was so recently extolling its virtues as a national can now suddenly change allegiance. Such surprise need not occur, because the group is still made up of the same people, with the same interests, activities, and general aims. In any event Kappa Delta had to conduct a rushing program to make Theta Chi Omega a vital organization at its foundation.

Theta Chi Omega has undertaken a challenging task. For its sake and for the future of the college sorority system we hope they succeed.

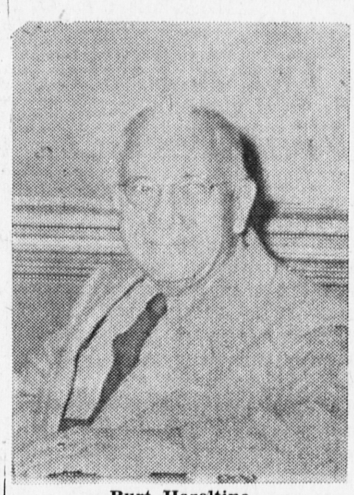
Hazeltine Retires To Cape Cod Home, Travel After 32 Years As Professor And Dean

By Claire Deerhake

Burt A. Hazeltine, professor of mathematics, describes himself as "a Vermonter, of old Vermont stock" although his plans following his retirement this June do not include the surrounding green hills. Instead, "headquarters" for Hazeltine will be his small home on Cape Cod, adeptly named "Aftermath".

Summers will undoubtedly find him on the Cape, but he doesn't care for cold weather, and "likes to spend the winter where it is piping hot." Travel (with a capital T) is one of Hazeltine's chief interests, and he is eagerly anticipating his opportunity to "visit some of the out-of-the-way places I've missed." It would seem that these places are few in number, for traveling abroad is nothing new to him.



Burt Hazeltine

Istanbul

As an exchange professor in mathematics in 1935-1936, Hazeltine taught at Robert College in Istanbul, Turkey. While there he made the most of his opportunity to tour Europe and North Africa. The student body at Robert College came from all over the Mediterranean, Hazeltine pointed out, and at least fifteen nationalities were represented, making the year a valuable teaching experience.

Hazeltine spoke with animation of the seven-month world cruise he took in 1939, mentioning specifically the many South Pacific islands (such as Singapore, Java, and the recently important Seychelles) which he visited, many of which were used as American bases or were seized by the Japanese during World War II.

Coral Islands

The cruise boat was fairly small, and thus could sail directly into the harbors of the smaller coral islands. War was declared just as Hazeltine returned to the States, and his cruise was the last of its kind.

Hazeltine expressed a desire to see some of the islands again, though he felt a few of them have become too commercialized since his trip. He is also looking forward to joining a friend and his wife aboard their yacht on the Carribean in the near future, to "help haul up anchor."

Hazeltine, born in Summerville, Massachusetts, holds degrees from Tufts Engineering School and Columbia, and has done graduate work at Boston University and Harvard. Before coming to Middlebury, he taught at the University of Massachusetts (then Massachusetts Agricultural School), Tufts College, Rollins College in Florida, and in the Framingham, Massachusetts school system.

During World War I Hazeltine was commissioned executive officer of the Naval Reserve Radio School in Newport, and was eventually in charge of over 1000 students. He came to Middlebury in 1924 as an instructor in mathematics. He was named associate dean of men for 1925-1926, and was dean of the men's college from 1926 to 1939. Hazeltine spoke with interest of his fourteen years as dean, describing them as busy and challenging.

Hazeltine returned to a full professorship at Middlebury after his world cruise. He has enjoyed his years of teaching, and remarked that "one of my biggest kicks comes from having in classes students whose parents were former students of mine." When he came to Middlebury mathematics was a required course for graduation, but since then has been made elective upon the recommendation of the department.

We were certain that we were speaking for the whole campus, as we wished Professor Hazeltine a Bon Voyage.

Ransom, Parsell, Bigelow Head '57 Kaleidoscope Staff

Barbara Ransom '57 has been named editor-in-chief of the "Kaleidoscope" according to Gail Moore '56, retiring editor. Other new officers are Gail Parsell '57, managing editor, and Dorothy Bigelow '58, business manager.

In the other editorial positions will be Jane Coutant '58, literary editor; Ida Mae Johnson '57, photography editor; Donald Lawton '58, sports editor; and Barbara Wilson '57, assistant literary editor, said Miss Moore.

Miss Ransom was managing editor of this year's book and was assistant literary editor in her sophomore year. An English major, she is vice-president of Delta Delta Delta, a junior counselor, and was a sophomore guide last year.

A newcomer to the "Kaleidoscope" staff this year, Miss Parsell worked on both the management and photography staffs. She is a member of the Campus business staff, of the Conference Student Policy Committee, and of the Women's Forum Board as director of the work at Chard Villa.

Miss Bigelow has worked on the business staff of the yearbook for two years. A member of Pi Beta Phi, she is women's treasurer of the sophomore council, director of the nurses' aid work at Porter Hospital, and a sophomore guide. She is also on the Women's Forum finance committee.

Six Are Initiated In Mortar Board At Mead Chapel

Newly elected to Mortar Board in a special program held in Mead Memorial Chapel on Wednesday, April 11, were the following: Pamela Clark, Margaret Houck, Sandra Nelson, Priscilla Noble, Kathleen Platt, and Carol Van Duyn, all '57.

Miss Clark has been a member of WUA for two years. She has been a member of Women's Forum for three years and was a member of the governing board during 1955-'56. She is pledge trainer for Sigma Kappa this year and is the new president-elect. Miss Clark is a junior counselor as well as a student advisor to freshmen, and is co-chairman of this year's junior prom. She has been on dean's list for the past three years.

Miss Houck was vice-president of Women's Forum this year and was recently elected next year's president. She was the junior Panhellenic representative for Kappa Kappa Gamma and is the senior representative for the coming year. Miss Houck was a sophomore guide and is a junior counselor and a student advisor to freshmen. She was a solicitor for the 1955-'56 Community Chest drive. She was in charge of the junior desert decorations and is in charge of refreshments for junior weekend. She has been on dean's list for the past three years.

Miss Nelson was recently elected president of WUA. She was a member of the judicial council this year as well as a junior Panhellenic representative for Sigma Kappa. Miss Nelson was in the ice show as well

Letter

To the editor,

This morning all the seniors in my dorm received a newspaper information form to be filled out and returned to Old Chapel. I suppose all seniors received similar letters. It was that three-cent stamp which startled me immediately. In discovering the nature of the contents one could not possibly avoid considering, why didn't this go campus mail? Why three cents for every senior? It's not as though the U. S. Post Office needs support.

Plainly incensed, I couldn't get my mind off this letter. My address had been personally typed on the envelope with all the precision of a business firm: Forest East 320, Middlebury College, Mddlebury, Vt. Why not simply name and FE? The letter inside was ironically a mimeographed form on quality letterhead paper. But beyond this was the completely self-addressed envelope in which I could return my completed form.

We hear so very much about saving money, building funds, that a minor incident such as this makes me wonder if Middlebury is really economy-minded. The three-cent stamp is startling, but more so is the time of paid laborers who provide us with such extra services.

Sincerely,
Jody Newmarker '58

Rushing

vious rushing programs had consumed at the beginning of the year. Freshmen had complained that they had not had a fair chance to look at all the fraternities in a discriminating manner in the early intensified system. Fraternity members regretted that they had "missed" certain prospects in the first semester program.

The new program, it is felt, will eliminate or at least alleviate such conditions. No ultimate decisions can be made by either freshmen or fraternities until second semester. Nevertheless, the system is set up so that the freshmen can become well acquainted with the fraternities, and vice-versa, during the first semester. The plan was organized with these objectives in mind, also allowing freshmen to be pledged to fraternities in time for Carnival.

year on the CAMPUS staff, he has worked for the "Providence Journal" in Providence, Rhode Island.

Miss Hall has been on the staff for two years and is a chemistry major. A member of Women's Forum, WAA, and Delta Delta Delta, she worked on the Religion Conference and was on both the newspaper and the yearbook staffs in high school.

The new officers of the business staff are assuming their positions pending revision and approval of the CAMPUS constitution.

as being co-chairman of Carnival Ball publicity. She is also on the debating team. She was secretary of her class during her sophomore year, and has worked on the Kaleidescope for three years. She is also a three year member of dean's list.

Miss Noble has been a member of the CAMPUS staff for three years; an assistant editor for two years, she is next year's executive editor. She is a junior counselor and was recently elected vice-president of Pi Beta Phi. She was national news chairman for the Winter Carnival Publicity Committee, and also served on the religion conference publicity committee. She is a guard on the WAA All Star basketball team and has been a consistent member of dean's list.

Miss Platt has been a member of the CAMPUS staff for two years. During her sophomore year, she was secretary of Women's Forum and a sophomore guide. She is a junior counselor as well as a member of the executive council of WUA. She is also a student advisor to freshmen. Miss Platt was a junior representative to the Panhellenic council, and has been elected president of Delta Delta Delta for the coming year. She was also a member of this year's Culture Conference Policy Committee and has been a consistent member of dean's list.

Miss Van Duyn, as well as being a three-year member of dean's list, is also a member of Wig and Pen and Players. She was publicity chairman for this year's religion conference and is a junior counselor. She was recently elected president of Kappa Delta, and is in charge of publicity and the banquet for junior weekend.

IRC Officers Are Elected

Members of the policy committee of the newly-formed International Relations Club are Phillip Braun '56, Jeanne Savoye '56, Philippe Tavernier '57, Elizabeth Mathewson '57, Jean-Louis de Gunzburg '58, Mary-Elizabeth Cowins '58, Ronald Aghassipour '59 and Norda Carlson '59.

Tentative plans of the club include sending a delegation to Rutland next Monday, April 23, to take part in a meeting of the International Relations Clubs of Vermont. The meeting will be followed by the annual meeting and banquet of the Vermont Council on World Affairs, at which John W. Nason, president of the Foreign Policy Association, will speak.

Any students interested in attending the meeting and banquet should contact Jeanne Savoye, Forest East 106, before Saturday a.m.

Chairmen Set 3 Committees

Committee chairmen for next fall's religion conference were selected this week by the co-chairmen, Wayne Reilly '57 and Patricia Judah '57. James Barker '57 and Deborah West '58 will be co-chairmen of publicity; Anthony Vallez '57 and Diana Chmielewski '58 will hold the finance committee; and Kenneth Moore '57 and Linda Shutt '58 will be in charge of arrangements.

Other officers for the conference are Eleanor Maier '57, secretary, and Edward Maline '57, treasurer.

Reilly is a member of Newman Club, the lacrosse team, and Delta Upsilon.

Miss Judah is a junior counselor and was song leader of her class last year. A member of the choir, junior council, Christian Association, and Delta Delta Delta, she is a dean's list student.

Women's Forum Announces Plans

An active spring is ahead for the members of Middlebury's Women's Forum, according to plans announced by Margaret Houck '57, president of the group.

The annual May Day celebration for all Middlebury children will highlight a year of classes at the Community House. At this time a king and queen will be crowned and entertainment will be provided for all guests by the dance, acrobatic, and baton students. The afternoon will end with the traditional May Pole Dance.

The backyard of the Community House will be the scene of the annual picnic to be held on May 17. This event is the last gathering for all Forum members.

Also scheduled is the Kiddie Culture Conference planned in coordination with the Middlebury school system. The theme of this year's conference is "Music of Every Land'.'

On May 24 the old and new Forum boards, the trustees of the Community House, and others will be guests at an informal tea commemorating Women's Forum's 20th anniversary. Speeches will be given tracing Forum's history from its beginning as an International Relations Club in 1936.

Other events still to be scheduled are the piano recitals and spring project.

Hart To Lead Track Team Against Ephs

By Gene Benevento

Last week Coach Arthur Brown held his time trials to find out just what his boys could do. Before this there was a little problem that he faced, of trying to find out just who will do what when the Panthers meet the Williams Ephmen on Saturday.

The time trials were a little slow but that is to be expected on a board track. The sprints have Capt. Hart, Rich Minor, and Bill O'Malley doing the work.

The jumping department, that is the high jump and the broad jump, will have Hart, O'Maley

Strong Union To Host Midd; Nelson Pleased With Progress

By Ed Ferman

After a two and a half hour scrimmage on Saturday, Duke Nelson has expressed satisfaction in the progress of his Panther stickmen.

The intrasquad workout was the first chance for the lacrosse team to get the feel of game conditions this year. Nelson was well pleased with the results and got a chance to note some of the squad's strengths and weaknesses. Defense, said the Panther coach, showed the main weakness in that the defensemen were not yet playing well together. This is only natural in a first scrimmage since the defense is hardly overburdened with veterans, Bob Vuillet and Rog Wilson being the only two.

The attack looked better than hoped for, considering that Bob Telfer is the only experienced offensive stickman. Speed and ag-

Bostwick To Play In First Singles Slot For Netmen

By Don Lawton

During the past week the tennis team was paired down to ten men, the number to be carried this year. Coach Merriman plans to take seven or eight to Amherst, Mass. to face the University of Massachusetts this Friday.

Captain Vern Gray, Pete Bostwick, and Bill Breed head the list of netmen who will make the trip to open the season against the Redmen. Captain Gray has been getting his game into good shape and should be ready to face the challenge of the men from Amherst. He probably will hold down the number three berth in the singles.

Bostwick, the number one man boasts a record of never having lost a match either singles or doubles in dual competition. The Theta Chi sophomore has looked extremely sharp in pre-season workouts and should have another fine year. Breed also has looked good and provides the netmen with a strong number two man in the singles. Bill also is a fine doubles player.

Seab Brady, Fyfe Dollar, and Sy Marchand, all veterans, will also be among those making the trip. Some doubt still remains as to whether Brady will be able to compete. However, he is now working out with the team, and to all indications there seems a good chance that he see action. If so, he will probably play number four singles. Dollar and Marchand undoubtedly will play, but in what positions can not be determined at this time due to the uncertainty over Brady's status.

The Rest

Two freshmen, Bruce Cameron and Dave DeSerio should make the trip and may possibly play. Barry Tessler and Livingstone round out the squad.

Smith Probable Hill Choice As Panthers Face Trinity

By Joe Mohbat

Bobo Sheehan's baseball squad, with scarcely a week of outdoor practice under the belt, goes on the road tomorrow to tackle two tough opponents, Trinity College, in Hartford, Connecticut tomorrow, and American International, in Springfield, Mass., on Saturday.

Bob Dean will be backing Tirone up as catcher, and reserve infielders are Tom Burr, who might also play in the outfield, Bob Ray, Don Ryan, and Dan Smith. Dick Thomas will be available for outfield duty. The rest of the pitching staff consists of Dick Johnson, Gerry Lenz, Jerry Ocorr, and Cliff Kernochan.

Sheehan will dress nineteen men, as the team prepares for its 16-game schedule. Nine lettermen are in the lineup, and the team sports six pitchers. Of these, Chuck Smith is expected to get the nod tomorrow at Trinity, and Pete Read should start Saturday at AIC. Both are righthanders.

Starters

The starting nine for the Panthers should look something like this: Smith pitching, Rog Tirone behind the plate, Cy Anfindsen at first, Bill Ellis at second, Jim Wagner, shortstop, Captain Bob Keating at third. The outfield has Zing Rausa in left, a questionmark in center, and either Pete Read or John Nichols in right. One of these two may start in center field, while the other stays in the sunfield.

Coach Dan Jesse's Trinity nine should be one of the better ones in Eastern small college circles this year, since most of last year's squad, which boasted a 14-4-1 record, will be back for another fling. There are three 300 hitters on the club, an almost flawless defense, and one of the best pitchers in the East in Walt Drabowsky. The latter won eight and lost but one game last season, struck out 81 batters in 72 innings, walked only 24, and

Golfers First Spring Team To See Action

By Tom Koch

Due to a change for the better in weather conditions it looks like the matches scheduled for the 18 and 19 at Amherst and Wesleyan will be played. So far the golfers look very sharp and seem to have a lot of depth.

The tentative positions of the eight men on the squad are; Joel Hufford, Paul Wise, John Kerestezy, Chuck Leonard, Don Sanders, John Hammond, George Gura and Bruce MacIntyre. Wise and MacIntyre are freshmen. This order is not indicative of their relative abilities and will probably be changed after the first couple of contests.

Nelson Golf Pro

Duke Nelson, is coaching the linksmen again this season. Although he has to spend most of his time at Lacrosse practise, he helps out and gives his golfers pointers whenever needed or asked for. Duke himself is a pro with the Pittsford Country Club during the summer.

No Putting Practice

The team has been practising hitting the long ball on the fairway, during the past week, but lack of practise in putting will hurt their scores in the first couple of matches.

Fair Or Foul

By O. S. Morton

The 1956 spring sports schedule gets into full swing this week with five of Middlebury's six teams seeing action on foreign soil. And for lack of anything else to do, we'd like to make a few predictions about the slate, which crowds some 58 total contests into a brief one month period.

Baseball (9-6)

As far as baseball is concerned, Bobo Sheehan is again faced with his perennial questionmark - a shakey mound staff showing a dearth of lefthanders. Chuck Smith and Pete Read give him two dependable starters and Smitty can move to center field when he isn't pitching. Jerry Lenz is the lone southpaw and must shake the after-effects of a badly injured leg. A solid infield of Keating, Wagner, Ellis, Anfindsen, and Tirone can make up partly for a definite weakness in the outfield which boasts only one regular from last year, Zing Rausa. The loss of Dick Makin hurts in the hitting department, but Keating, Wagner, and Anfindsen supply sufficient power, while Tirone and Ellis hit with fair consistency. Trinity, AIC, Williams, Wesleyan, and Vermont are the toughest on the schedule, which sees the Panthers winning nine, losing six.

Track (3-2)

In his 38th season as track coach, Arthur M. Brown finds a pronounced weakness in the quarter and half and no one to throw the hammer. Tom Hart provides the points in the sprints, the high and broad jumps, and pole vault. Holmes and Sykes pick up points in the hurdles, while frosh Dave Dengler should break the school record for the mile, if not this year, certainly before he graduates. The rest is up to conjoture and a conservative guess places the cinder record at three and two in dual meet competition.

Lacrosse (5-3)

A second place finish in New England's B division last spring was more than satisfying for Duke Nelson's lacrosse team, but graduation has weakened the ranks considerably. However, attack, midfield, and goal are sufficiently stocked with veterans, and several frosh continue to impress, among them John Mentor and Byron Koh. Defense is the major trouble spot with no depth to back up Bob Viullet and Roger Wilson. New Hampshire, Union, and Amherst are the big obstacles to hurdle and the stickmen will do well to win five and lose three.

Tennis (11-2)

The loss of Spike Heminway should not hurt a fine Panther tennis squad which should have the best record of the five spring teams. The Merrimen should be virtually as strong as last year with Pete Bostwick, Bill Breed, Vern Gray, and Seab Brady leading the way, backed up by several dependable teammates. It wouldn't be radical to predict an eleven and two record in dual matches.

Golf (6-1)

Four lettermen greet Duke Nelson to form a capable nucleus for his golf team which plays an enlarged schedule this year. Frosh Paul Wise hits the longest ball on the team and may press Joel Hufford for the number one slot. John Kerestezy, Chuck Leonard, and Don Sanders round out the first five of a team which could win six and lose only one (to Dartmouth).

Ski Letters

The athletic council approved the varsity "M" award for six skiers and manager Silas Ayer at its monthly meeting, last week.

They are: Thomas Burns, Jack Beattie, Norman Cummings, David Douglass, Marcel Cote, Frank Hurt, Peter Lahdenpera, Peter Webber, and Doug Swantes (assistant manager).

Burns, Hurt, Webber Place In National Championships

Three members of the Middlebury College ski team competed against some of the nation's finest skiers, collegiate and otherwise, in the National Alpine Championships at Squaw Valley, California, April 6, 7, and 8.

The championships, sponsored by the Squaw Valley-Lake Tahoe Ski Club, drew a field of some 70 men and women skiers including Tom Corcoran, member of the 1956 Olympic Alpine team, and collegiate stars from eastern and western schools. Representing Middlebury were Tom Burns, Frank Hurt, and Pete Webber.

Perfect weather and skiing conditions graced the Squaw Valley area during the three-day event, with only negligible amounts of ice appearing on the upper slopes of the slalom and giant slalom trails in the early morning. So highly rated is the ski area that it has been chosen as the site of the 1960 Olympic Winter Games.

Billy Woods, sensational high school skier from Waterbury, Vermont, and representing the Mount Mansfield Ski Club, won the downhill staged on Friday morning as the initial event. Wood's time was 1:55.3, a full two seconds better than that turned in by Reomond Wilcox of Norwich University who was second. Following Wilcox were Dick Buek of Soda Springs, and Ted Armstrong and Tom Carter, both of Aspen, in third, fourth, and fifth. Pete Webber was tied with Spence Eccles for sixth with 1:59.1. Frank Hurt took 19th and Tom Burns did not finish. Dave Harwood and John Ceely of Dartmouth finished twentieth and fortieth, respectively.

Corcoran defended his 1955 National giant slalom title by winning the event in 2:03.3, four seconds better than Woods who was second. Hurt followed Armstrong finishing a solid fourth, while Burns was involved in a three-way tie for twentieth. Webber, who had injured his leg when he cracked into a tree after the finish line of the downhill, was unable to complete his run and did not attempt the slalom the next day. Harwood, Wilcox, and Ceely were sixteenth, eighteenth and twenty-seventh, respectively.

Playing the favorite's role to perfection, Corcoran put together separate runs of 88.4 and 52.5 seconds to win the slalom with a combined time of 140.9. Woods, who surprised and greatly impressed everyone present, was second in 148.0. Hurt was timed in 154.7 for seventh, a scant tenth of a point behind Phil Seabourne of Sun Valley who finished sixth. Burns tied for thirtieth, incurring a time penalty on his second run. Ceely, Wilcox, and Harwood came nineteenth, twenty-fourth, and forty-second.

Woods copped the combined easily with a first and two second place finishes and only 3.04 FIS points. Wilcox was the next eastern skier in seventh position. Hurt was Middlebury's first finisher taking twelfth, while Burns and Webber were not listed in the combined totals. Corcoran's last place finish in the downhill cost him the combined leadership, which was determined by totaling the fewest FIS points given in each event.

BUSH LEAGUE

By Wayne Williamson

As this edition goes to press the average Middlebury student can spot the signs of spring approaching. Many an eye can be seen turned in the direction of Lake Dunmore eagerly awaiting the annual treck to take place. Doria has increased his supply of your favorite malt beverages and numerous couples led by Fat Fran Fitzgerald with his Crow Call, can be seen looking for dry spots in the now green turf.

But the one sure sign of spring is the beginning of Middlebury's own double Z ball, the intramural softball season. As one drives past the fraternity houses the sounds of ball and bat, the cries of, "I'll hit .420 this year" and the smell of pounds of analgesic greet you. Next week Commissioner Kelly will start off the combat and I would like to deviate from the normal procedure of predicting the seasons outcome, leaving that to my successor. But let me ask a few questions and you fans can make your own decisions.

Will Jim Wagner return his contract unsigned to Bobo Sheehan and put his weight to use by taking up the catching chores for Sig Ep? Will Mac Binning come out of retirement to once again speedily leg his triples into singles? Has married life slowed umpire G. Decarie's timing or will he again be voted the league's worst umpire, a title which he took over from this writer. Finally will seminars at Pete's interfere with this year's after supper double headers. Well you can form your own opinions kiddies as the league begins to roll.

A few results from Red Kelly's office show Bob Rice as the winner of the individual badminton championship with Pete Bostwick runner up. Also the Dekes won the team honors and T. C. finished second.

Midd WAA

By Red Raymond

Several stars appeared on the horizon during the WAA badminton tournament which recently reached completion. Velma Rice took top honors in the singles division and then teamed up with new president Sandy Farrell to win the doubles tourney. Granny Lavery and the team of Marilyn Fish and Janice Calderwood were runners-up. After all the hard competition was over, the WAA decided that relaxation was in order. A group of badminton fiends teamed up to challenge the male faculty on friendly terms. The faculty, it appears, is keeping all names and results secret.

Spring Sports

In the field of spring sports (it is spring, we think), Anne Curtis is recruiting members for the tennis tournament and Sue Babbidge is busy rounding up the golfers so that those sports can get underway. Other spring athletics under WAA direction include archery, softball, and lacrosse.

and Westfall. Last year in the broad jump Hart and O'Malley leaped about 22 and 21 respectively and in the high jump, they usually cleared 6.4 and 6.0.

Up to date Sykes, Holmes, and Minor have carried the hurdle chores but Ed MacDowell has shown some promise. Collin, a freshman was impressive but has been lost because of a pulled muscle.

In the pole vault we will have Hart and Greenwood. Greenwood, a freshman, has been impressive and should be of great help to Midd.

The shot and the discus will be handled by returning letterman, John Snell and freshman Ted Parker. Bates, a newcomer, will handle the javelin which he has tossed some 170 feet. The loss of Mark Benz has left the hammer throw in the dark.

In the distance events, freshman Dave Dengler has been impressive and should pick up plenty of points. He has done a 4:25 mile already. Lending a hand in this event will be Brad Tripp, Barc Johnson, and Andy Ford.

Baseball

had the phenomenal ERA of .999.

The Trinity captain, Ron Kozuch, is one of the better backstops around, batting .373 last year, with a .973 fielding average. Football star Charlie Sicka, by the way, is at second base.

gressiveness abound in the midfield, however, there is a lack of depth as far as experienced stickhandlers go. Captain Mike Podell, Chan Murdock, and Wayne Reilly are the returnees in the midfield.

This Saturday the stickmen will travel to Schenectady, where they engage Union College in their first test of the season. Union downed the Panthers, 11-7, when the two teams met early last year. Conditioning meant the difference then, and Midd hopes to have the edge this time. However, the Dutchmen, who perennially field a strong squad, reportedly have their most powerful unit in a dozen years, and the underdog Panthers will have their work cut out for them.

Safaris, Social Weekends Spark Season Of Singing Dates For "Dissipated Eight"

By Kathleen Platt

"Eight blended voices available for parties, dances and house functions," it says in small print on the Dissipated Eight's business card. Not included is the fact that the octet is also game for television, partying, extemporaneous harmonizing and all other occasions involving singing with a bit of fun thrown in.

In the five-year career of the Dissipated Eight it has made a reputation at eastern schools from Boston to Ithaca and in clubs and restaurants from the German-American Club in New York City to the Hartness House in Springfield, Vt. The group has also sung at weddings and at milkmen's conventions.

The name "Dissipated Eight" has been confusing in more than one instance. After an appearance at Cornell's "Ivy Jive" last fall, "Good Housekeeping" magazine commented on a "new nine-man singing group from Middlebury that calls itself the Dissipated Eight." The group was whittled down to quartet proportions for its television debut over spring vacation, due to the double necessity of programming demands and spring skiing and sunning.

Within the past month the group has shared the limelight with both campus beauty queens and a home-cooking demonstration. A sleepy-eyed foursome straggled into NBC studios in New York at 7 a.m. April 5 to rehearse its part in the Herb Sheldon Show to be broadcast at 9 o'clock. Two hours later they were looking properly wide-awake and dapper in striped blazers and straw hats as they introduced the home ec portion of the show with a hastily-learned song, "Once in Love with Josie." As soon as the cooking demonstration ended, four hungry singers made a beeline for the studio kitchen to sample Josie's cooking.

Their solo number, "Coney Island Baby," was carried off with veteran-like casualness according to the partial observation of members of the Middlebury drama production class, who also participated in the program.

Just a little more than a week after the Josie episode the Eight were on their knees before a bevy of beauties as they serenaded the IFC sweetheart at a Cornell University dance. Later the same evening they were approached for autographs by a blushing co-ed who had been the object of their attention during a rendition of "Quitcha" at the ATO house.

The actual singing is but half the story of a Dissipated Eight weekend. What happens before and after a performance may never get into the octet scrapbook, but will be remembered long after the professional aspects of an engagement.

Ron Potier, 1955-56 leader, handed his duties over to George Sims '57, who officiated for the first time at the Cornell sing. It is now George's job to count noses as the members straggle into an auditorium or armory an hour or so before a performance. A missing bass last seen in a fraternity house baseball game invariably turns up in time for a last-minute rehearsal in the men's room or a deserted hallway.

Having to expect the unexpected has molded the group into one that can meet any occasion. An enthusiastic and determined party-goer at Williams Carnival this year, bent on getting into the Eight's performance failed to stop the show, even when he was dragged off by an insistent policemen. Only a brief interruption ensued when a member of the octet put his foot through a nearby bass drum during a performance last year.

Jules Auger '58, new business manager of the Eight, has the all-important job of creating order out of chaos and organization out of dissipation. Jules' duties include correspondence, publicity, finances and an all-inclusive category of miscellania.

The success of an away game for the Eight is measured by two standards; first and foremost, how well they sing, and secondly, the tenor of the weekend's social life. A blue-blazered singer is likely to turn up almost anywhere on a host campus where he is offered the friendly possibility of a party and a few tunes.

ditorium. Fitting in perfectly with the theme of the weekend, the musical is a story of life in Greenwich Village during Prohibition. Regular seats will be on sale for $1.50 and are all reserved. Bleacher seats are $1.25. The curtain will go up at 8:30 p.m.

Junior Weekend will come to its traditional close Sunday evening at 7:00 p.m. with step singing by the women on the steps of Mead Chapel.

Late permissions for the weekend are as follows: Thursday night, 11:30; Friday and Saturday nights 2 p.m.

Chapel

The Rev. Mr. James C. McLeod, dean of students at Northwestern University, will deliver the sermon in Sunday chapel on April 22. A 1926 graduate of Middlebury, he will speak on the topic "On Being Sorry For Yourself". Attendance will be compulsory for juniors and seniors.
